VOI. NO. 316. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA., SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, 1912 ONE CENT

TOWN WELL ADVERTISED

Charleroi is Convention City of Monongahela Valley

THREE BIG MEETINGS

Sunday School, Lodge and Temperance People Select the Magic City

When a small town of less than 10,000 inhabitants gets to the point where it ranks with its haughty sisters of 20,000 and 30,000 and 40,000 population in the critical eye of the convention selector---if you can call him that--it has become some "suds." Charleroi has done all that, and conventions to which the town has naturally fallen heir, has proven it.

Charleroi doesn't recover from one convention until it gets another, and fortunately they are not all of the same kind. They do not in the least run to monotony.

Two years ago at Philadelphia there was a meeting of a big lodge that in the State of Pennsylvania numbers 5,300 members. One delegate to this convention had been reading of Gov. Tener's nomination for governor and was delighted even to the point of enthusiasm. "Let's go to Charleroi," he called out when the matter of the 1912 convention city came up for official decision. The idea took like wildfire. Everybody voted in favor of Charleroi, and that's why this week the Magic City entertained the Sons of St. George in their seventeenth stated grand lodge meeting. The convention brought together some influential men, lawyers, physicians, editors, men of various professions, and on the other hand men of the trades. The most conspicuous figure at the three days' session was probably W. J. Trembath, of Wilkesbarre, a lawyer of State wide repute who now has the unique honor of being grand secretary and supreme secretary, combined, of the Sons of St. George. Then there were present W. F. Barlow, who came all the way from Boston, Mass., to attend the convention as supreme president of the organization, A. E. Symons, of Wilkesbarre, and a number of Philadelphia men. All were here to enjoy themselves and did.

During June for two days the Washington County Sunday School Association was entertained. It was the biggest and the best convention the county association ever had, and attracted unusual attention throughout the State. The next event was a session of African Methodists; the disease was prevalent--their Sunday School and Allen Endeavor conventions were the best they ever had.

With the convention over this week the Magic City will only have time to clean up a bit, wash its face so to speak, until the Women's Christian Temperance Union comes. Their session held by the Washington County organization will last for two days, August 27 and 28. It may not be the last scheduled for this year--it is to be hoped it isn't if such nice people continue coming as have been here at past conventions, but it is the final one so far as is known.

INVENTED NEW WARE; DIES IN OBSCURITY

Carl Otto, Formerly of Charleroi, Succumbs at Detroit

PRODUCED WHITE GLASS

In obscurity and without having gained the recognition due him by his craft, Carl Otto, 66 years old, a German inventor died a few days ago in Detroit, Mich. Though having perfected some of the finest kinds of glass ware used today his name is familiar to but few. The Detroit News says of him:

"After attending famous schools and universities in the old world, Mr. Otto devoted his life to experiments in glass, and through his efforts formulas for some of the most recent styles of glass decoration were evolved. Samples of his work adorn some of the churches and cathedrals of the old world, while in this country several of the magnificent hotels in the larger cities are using glassware that was invented by him.

BIG CARS TO DONORA

Depot and "Y" to be Constructed by Pittsburg Railways

GROUND IS ACQUIRED

A big depot and a "Y" where large palace cars can turn are included in the plans for future development in Donora by the Pittsburg Railways company. An ordinance has been secured by the company in Donora giving them the right to make the desired improvements This ordinance will become a law in a few days.

It is the intention of the Pittsburg Railways company in extending and amplifying their Donora service to build the proposed depot on McKean avenue next to Darsie's hardware store, and to use it for both passenger and freight purposes. Ground has been acquired by the company. The "Y" will enable the cars to be run in the depot and backed out, giving them head for Pittsburg.

At the present time Donora passengers from Pittsburg or from up river points have to transfer to little cars at Black Diamond. It is understood when the new system is put into effect through cars will be run to Donora the same as through cars are now run to Charleroi.

Cyrus M. Walker and the B. V. D. Underwear company have filed a bill in equity for an injunction in the United States court against Charles Smith a West Chestnut street clothier to restrain him from selling this firm's product at lower prices than the regular price set by the manufacturers. FIRE COMPANIES OF TWO TOWNS TO ENTERTAIN ON LABOR DAY

Brownsville and Charleroi Firemen to Hold Celebration on Local Field--First Joint Meeting at Brownsville Last Year

COMMITTEES MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR EVENT

Committees of the Charleroi Volenteer Fire department are working in preparation for two big events. One will be a local celebration on Labor Day, September 2, when the Brownsville Fire Company will be here to participate in various firemen contests against the Charleroi company. The other event will be at Uniontown during Old Home week, when firemen contests will be held. Volunteer fire departments all along the Monongahela valley have been invited to participate in the Uniontown event. Charleroi has accepted on one condition, that no professional racers take part in the races. One thousand dollars will be offered in prizes.

The Labor Day event here will be in the nature of a return engagement for the Brownsville firemen. Last fall the Charleroi firemen went to Brownsville to meet the Brownsville department in various contests, and to help them in a benefit. Part of the agreement was that the Brownsville department would come here to be entertained at a later date by Charleroi, and Labor Day will be the time.

All the events will be held at the baseball ground. A baseball game will be played. R. Dale Jolliffe has been selected captain of the Charleroi team. The rest of the program will consist of hose races, a hub and hub race, a service hose race and a hook and ladder race. Logan Wingett will be the captain of the running team. Practice will be started next Tuesday. when every runner who will be able to take part in the meet is requested to be present. In the evening the Brownsville firemen will be entertained at a supper by the Charleroi company. The proceeds of the affair will be to defray the necessary expenses. If there is anything left, it will go to the department.

NO PROTECTION FOR WEBSTER

Village Has Constable But He Lives in Pricedale Several Miles Away

Boasting of a population of 1,200, not counting dogs or pigs, four saloons and a few gamblers, and with no more police protection than New York is rumored to have, Webster claims itself to be in a unique and uneviable position. The nearest township constable lives at Pricedale, back of Belle Vernon. He has supervision over Webster law enforcement but his system of patroling the village necessarily has to consist of a brief visit only every once in a while. Inasmuch as offenders are pretty well versed as to when he will make his visit, Webster is in a position to be pitied.

If by any unusual dispensation of Fate, an arrest is made the following is somewhat the order of conversation:

Officer-"I beg pardon, sir, but I'll have to arrest you."

Arrested Party-"You'll have to— ! Aw, please don't, I ain't done nuthin'

Officer, "I guess I have to take you to Donora or Monessen. Would you mind walking there? It is only a mile or so to the Donora lockup

MOURNED AS DEAD; WOMAN RETURNS

China Missionary Surprised to Learn She Was Supposed Victim of Titanic

Miss Maud Powell, of West Alexander, mourned as lost in the sinking of the Titanic, and for whom funeral services were held in a church weeks ago, arrived home this week, and was amazed to learn that she was supposed to have drowned when the mighty vessel went down near the Newfoundland Banks.

Miss Powell, who is a missionary of the Presbyterian church in China, had intended sailing on the Titanic, but at the last minute took passage on the North German Lloyd Line, tarrying in London to see the sights. Miss Powell had been in China as a medical missionary for the last six years, and was starting home on a furlough. She made her return by way of Great Britain, and wrote her friends in West Alexander that she would sail on the Titanic on its maiden voyage.

Her friends and relatives heard nothing further and when the Titanic went down and no trace of her could be secured among the survivors, it was taken for granted that she had drowned, and her funeral services were held.

Miss Powell, after deciding that she would come by another line wrote home but the letters never arrived. Miss Powell credits her escape from the Titanic disaster to her childhood

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED BY CORONER'S JURY

Blame is Placed on Railroad Wreck for the B. and O.

CONDUCTOR MENTIONED

Investigating the cause of the header between a freight and passenger train a mile west of Claysville Monday which resulted in the death of P. Verderber, of Washington and Archie Gibson of Wheeling, the coroner's jury Friday placed the blame on the negligence of the freight crew. No recommendations were made by the jury. Coroner James T. Heffran conducted the inquest.

Conductor John McElwee and the Engineers Harry Kirkland and Henry Woan were particularly mentioned as those to be blamed. With but one exception the crew on the freight testified that they had forgotten about the passenger train. The flagman was the only man on the freight who had thought of the passenger, but his place was on the rear end of the train and he talked with no one about it.

PARTY IN EVIDENCE

Organization of "Washingtons" Effected in This County

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN

That the "Washington" party is destined to be a permanent political organization in this section of the state was made evident Friday when by affidavits filed in the court of common pleas of Washington county the name was pre-empted for the elections for both the county and the borough of Washington. The name was pre-empted for the year 1913, it having been secured all over the state for the present year by action taken before the Chicago convention.

On the affidavit for the use of the name in the borough of Washington appeared the names of James P. Brownlee, B. F. Mevay, Jr., James W. McKennan, A. R. Witherspoon, J. B. Sherrard, Owen C. Underwood and C. L. V. Acheson. On the affidavit for the use of the name in the county are the names of John H. Moffitt, J. V. Clark, Owen C. Underwood, J. B. Sherrard, T. B. H. Brownlee, R. H. Meloy and C. L. V. Acheson.

Similar action was taken in Allegheny county two days ago and it is understood the same plan will be followed all over the state.

RAZING BRIDGE

Belle Vernon Structure Being Dismantled by Contractors

TAKING UP FLOORING

Present Wooden Planks to be Replaced by Creosote Blocks--Two Ferries Now

Workmen are engaged in tearing up the flooring and removing the woodwork on the approaches of the Belle Vernon bridge preparatory to beginning actual work of repairing the old structure. Within a short time they will have affairs in shape so that concrete workers can commence work on the new concrete approaches to be built.

According to the contract signed by the Capital Construction company of Columbus, Ohio, the bridge is to be repaired ready for use by Vovember. It is not thought, however, that it will be finished until about the first of the year.

The present wooden flooring on the bridge proper will be replaced by cresote blocks, which will make a particularly strong and lasting floor. Floors of the approaches will be of brick. The approach on the Belle Vernon side of the bridge will be about 150 feet long and the one on the Speers side about 125 feet. These approaches will be built by separate contract.

Monday two ferries will be in operation between Belle Vernon and Speers, unless there are some unlooked for developments. Van L. Speers has had a ferry running for some time. Leslie Woodward started a ferry, but was temporarily stopped through injunction proceedings started by Speers. The preliminary injunction was dissolved Friday and Woodward will again get his ferry going Monday.

DONORA AUDITORS FILE REPORT OF SCHOOL DISTRICT

The borough of Donora was the first of the third class school districts of Washington county to file its auditors' statement, asking that compensation be fixed for the auditors, as is required by the new school code. The court fixed the compensation of the auditors at $15 each. The auditors were E. C. Morrison and John A. Byers. The total receipts of the district were $62,084.66, and the total expenses, $60,861.55, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer of $1,233.11.

THE AMENDMENTS

Recently the Mail commented on the first of the proposed constitutional amendments for which joint resolutions were passed by the last legislature. The amendments cannot be voted upon by the people until they are passed by another legislature, but the law provides that they must be advertised for the enlightenment of the public, and the text of the proposed changes is now appearing in the various newspapers in order that the voters may read and study them. There are five of the proposed amendments, the first of which, as the Mail stated provides for the bonding of the state for fifty million dollars to improve the 8,000 miles of highways taken over by the state in accordance with Governor Tener's comprehensive plan of road improvement. The other proposed amendments, as summarized by the Philadelphia Press, are as follows:

The second amendment breaks into the section prohibiting special legislation on certain subjects so far as to permit special legislation regulating labor or as the amendment specifies, "the legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or any civil division thereof," or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work under such authority. This is quite comprehensive and pretty clearly its own meaning.

The third amendment is intended as an escape from the muddle into which the tenure of some of the Common Pleas Judges of the state was thrown by the amendments adopted three years ago. It provides that such Judges holding office at the present time whose terms expire in odd-numbered years shall continue to hold their office for another year. By the adoption of this amendment the tenure will be adjusted to meet the requirment that all district Judges shall be elected in the odd-numbered years. It was clearly an oversight that this was not provided for in the original amendment on the subject.

The fourth amendment relates to taxation. It incorporates in the section requiring that "all taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects," a provision that the subjects of taxation may be classified for the purpose of laying graded or progressive taxes. The proposed amendment is understood to have been inspired by the investigation of taxation and the hunt for new subjects from which revenue can be had, by the Legislative Commission which has now been in existence several years, and has made no definite report.

The fifth amendment is intended to enable counties or municipalities to increase their indebtedness for self-supporting public works. It will be worthy of discussion in detail should it finally come up for popular vote. It does not apply to Philadelphia, as it extends to other counties and municipalities much the same privilege this city acquired by the constitutional amendment adopted last November.

All of these amendments are important, particularly the first, which provides for road improvements, and the voters should make sure how they want to pass upon them when make their selections for the next legislature at the coming fall election.

GAINING GROUND

Slowly but surely the curb market is gaining ground in Charleroi. As the season advances, more produce is coming in, and a wider variety is offered for sale. Some products as a matter of course have a greater supply than there is a demand for at times, while of others there is not enough to supply the demand. The season is favorable for some while unfavorable for others, which is a large factor in the matter of supply and demand.

What is necessary now is for the people to create the market, and the farmers will in time meet the demand. This cannot be done in a single season, but if the people of Charleroi lend the proper encouragement all through this season, the opportunities will be infinitely greater another year. In buying direct from the producer intermediate profits are cut off, and both buyer and seller profit more by the transaction. The curb market is gaining ground right along, and all should lend their aid in making it permanent. Buying from the producer direct is one of the means of reducing the high cost of living.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"We are glad we came to Charleroi," said A. E. Symons, grand treasurer of the Sons of St. George, which met in convention here this week. "I wish you would emphasize that. We have been treated royally and while we haven't had very much time to go around, yet we have managed to get a pretty good idea of the town that Gov. Tener came from.

"One thing that struck us forcibly was your clean streets. Why it seems to me that in all the conventions we have attended we have never been to a place where the streets are kept in such fine shape.

"In the matter of entertainment Charleroi cannot be beaten. The accomodations we found here at the hotels were surprising, and are better than you would find in the average city of 20,000 or 30,000. That's a fact.

"When we left Pittsburg on our way up the Monongahela valley some of us eastern delegates had a feeling akin to gloom. We had little idea of what Charleroi was, practically all of our knowledge of the town being that Gov. Tener lived here. Consequently we expected to find a smoky, dirty place, put together unsystematically and publishing the fact to the world. As we came up the river, some remarked as we passed certain gloomy towns that Charleroi would look something like that.

"Imagine our surprise when we stepped off our train in front of the beautiful railroad station, and gazed up the broad, clean streets. After getting to our hotels we lost little time in seeing some of the "Magic City of the Monongahela Valley" and I tell you we are pleased."

Ever since the establishment of the Charleroi curb market the committee, composed of President J. B. Schafer of the Business Men's Association, and Dr. C. C. Wright, Chas. O. Frye and others have been trying to get J. G. S. Chalfant, who lives near Coal Center, to bring his produce here. Mr. Chalfant, who uses advanced and scientific methods in raising fruit and produce, particularly the former, was somwhat loth to come here, saying that he had a better market at Roscoe and other up-river points.

Finally, after repeated solicitations Mr. Chalfant drove to town Tuesday with a wagon load of fruit—plums and apples, chiefly—which were of unusually fine quality. The moment he appeared the throng of women who were at the market surrounded his wagon, and Mr. Chalfant was not only amazed at the eagerness of the purchasers, but was overwhelmed by the rush. As he could not hand out his product fast enough, the women hepled themselves to baskets and boxes of fruit and laid the money down for the same.

During the rush Councilman W. H. Calvert, J. B. Schafer and A. F. McGowan "kidded" Mr. Chalfant over the superiority of the up-river market.

"Better go to Roscoe with your stuff," they said. "There you'll have plenty of time to hand it out, peddling from door to door," and similar chaff was "handed out" to Mr. Chalfant, who in 25 or 30 minutes was completely cleaned out.

CALIFORNIA WOMAN ACCEPTS SETTLEMENT

Rather than have a retrial of the case Mrs. Mary A. Rager of California, has signified that she will accept $300 for alleged damages done to her property by the overflow of a water tank on the Normal school grounds. She was awarded a verdict by a jury for $800, but the court stated a new trial would be granted unless Mrs. Rager cared to accept $300 for the damages claimed. The latter has accepted the court's proposition.

AN HOUR'S WALK.

You Would Hardly Think It Meant Traveling 85,253 Miles.

Have you ever thought of the distance [illegible] when you are out [illegible] stroll? Possibly you [illegible] the hour, but [illegible] represent [illegible]. The earth [illegible] [illegible] is [illegible] miles. This is the radius of the earth's orbit, half the diameter of the circle, as we call it. The whole diameter is therefore 186,000,000 miles, and the circumference, being the diameter multiplied by 3.1416, is about 578,000,000.

This amazing distance the earth travels in its yearly journey, and dividing it by 365 we find the daily speed about 1,580,000. Then we get the distance you rode around the sun during your hour's walk, divide again by twenty-four, and the result is about 66,000 miles. But this is not the end of your hour's trip. The sun, with its entire brood of planets, is moving in space at the rate of 160,000,000 miles in a year. That is at the rate of a little more than 438,000 miles a day, or 18,250 miles an hour.

So, adding your three miles of leg travel to the hour's axial movement of the earth, this to the earth's orbital journey and that again to the earth's excursion with the sun, and you find you have traveled in the hour 85,253 miles.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

"Broncho Billy's Pal," another of the great films of this series in which G. M. Anderson, in his famous character creation of "Broncho Billy," is known throughout three hemispheres, was a most delightful presentation at the Palace Theatre this week. Broncho Billy's pal has a sweetheart, who demands of him to capture a desperado who has shot and wounded her father, the sheriff. The young man confesses to Broncho Billy that he is a coward and afraid to run the bad man down, but Billy takes the badge and revolver and brings the desperado in and lodges him in jail, leaving his pal to enjoy the good graces of his sweetheart for his supposed bravery. Other strong photoplays were "The Queens Ring," a historic incident in the reign of "Good Queen Bess," "The Adventure of a Retired Army Colonel," a thrilling detective story, "For the Sake of the Pappoose," "The Family Tyrant," and others. in addition the Pathe Weekly showed the Elks' parade at the recent grand lodge session at Portland, Oregon, as well as many other interesting features.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI

Lovers of the Shakesperean drama enjoyed a rare treat at the Coyle Theatre Thursday in Thanhauser's two-part production of the "The Merchant of Venice." Presented by a most capable cast the settings of the play were historically perfect. The reproduction of the scenes in Venice far surpassed any staging that has even been attempted in the legitimate presentation of this great play, while the large number of people in action, historically correct in costume, added most effectually to the scenes. Opening with comedy, with Shylock's dark mental workings in the center, together with the tragic ending, those familiar with the plot and lines had a more correct version of the play than even the greatest tragedian that ever essayed the role could portray. The whole version was a most delightful and scholorly interpretation. Other strong feature films were shown during the week, one of which was "The Little Moonshiner," a picture that showed the trials and vicissitudes of those who live far back in the mountains and try to eak out an existance by distilling whiskey, contrary to the Federal regulations.

THE STAR—CHARLEROOI.

Sensational features, in which there were genuine thrills for all, predominated at the Star Theatre this week. The first big thriller was a two reel film, "Written in Blood," which as the title suggests, was a most graphic drama of manly action and feminine heroism. "Attacked by a Lion," which is said to be the most realistic film ever shown was a thriller that made spectators' hair stand on end. "Young Wild West on the Border" was another film of intense human action in the open, while the great masterpiece of Washington Irving, "Rip Van Winkle," made famous by Joseph Jefferson was Friday's schedule. This great drama is also in two reels, and the motion picture version greatly amplifies the possibilities of settings and scenic effects. The week closes today with "Ouida's most charming and sensational drama, "Under Two Flags," whose story has for years thrilled the whole novel-reading public of both continents.

THE HIPPODROME—PITTSBURG.

Another triumphant week at the Pittsburg Hippodrome is closing, and the reputation of this popular big out-of-doors show stands higher today than ever. Roberson's 5 Performing Elephants scored such a knockout hit with the pleasure loving public of Pittsburg and were [illegible] the Manager John P. Harris, in answer to many requests, made arrangements by which their engagement in Pittsburg was extended for one week longer, and they formed an added attraction to a bill peculiarly rich in enjoyable features.

The important announcement is now made that Albers Polar Bears have been secured for the Hippodrome and will positively appear. All the greatest and most thrilling sensations all the latest novelties; all the prettiest and most artistic acts; all the biggest comedy hits are discovered and brought straightway to Pittsburg and included in the Hippodrome bills from week to week. The special Saturday matinees are proving the most enjoyable and popular innovation that has yet been introduced by the Hippodrome management. Whenever it is possible, during the remainder of the season, when baseball games do not interfere, the Hippodrome matinees will continue in addition to the regular nightly shows. One of the many attractive features connected with the Hippodrome is that the performances are not interferred with by the weather.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG

Miss Thais Magrane, who, during the summer, has been leading woman of the Davis Players, at the Grand Opera House, will make her farewell bow in that capacity, next week, to local playgoers, in a revival of Clyde Fitch's famous romance of international courtship and marriage, "Her Great Match," which was written especially for Maxine Elliott by the prolific Fitch.

Briefly, the plot of the play concerns the courtship of Jo Sheldon, who is traveling with her scheming mother for the obvious purpose of finding a royal suitor, by the Crown Prince Adolph of Eastphalia. The Prince's father, upon learning of his son's infatuation, threatens to disinherit him, unless he gives up the idea of marriage with a woman so beneath him in birth. But the Prince refuses; and his family attempts to arrange a morgantic marriage which naturally ends in a fiasco. Whereupon the Prince renounces his right to the throne, and marries the lady of his choice.

Supporting Miss Magrane as Jo Sheldon, at the Grand, next week, will be Corlis Giles leading man of the Davis Players, as the Prince, Katherine Stanton, Hal De Forest, Frank Wright and other stock favorites. Stage Director Esmelton is arranging an elaborate scenic outfit for the four acts of the piece, all of which are laid in England.

FINDING A [illegible] TICKET.

Sometimes It May Be Just Walking Into a Trap.

[illegible]

"According to the [illegible] the [illegible] had been [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Why not [illegible] house?"

[illegible] ticket was [illegible] and my [illegible] relieved when I found several [illegible] of that name in the directory. I soon made up my mind [illegible] for the broker's office [illegible] to see the pin before redeeming it, stating that I had bought the [illegible] on the payment of 25 [illegible] allowed to examine it.

"It looked all right to me, although I am not a qualified judge of diamonds, so I [illegible] the [illegible] of $15 and the interest of $1.80 and the pin became mine.

"The next day I showed it to an expert, who declared it to be worth far less than the amount I had paid for it.

"'It is a trick of some people,' he said, 'to defraud unwary persons like yourself. The scheme consists of issuing tickets for spurious pieces of jewelry for amounts many times in excess of their value and dropping them on the sidewalk in different parts of town where unsuspecting persons might find them and redeem them, as you did, thus yielding a handsome profit to the perpetrators.'"—Philadelphia Record.

[illegible] voice. [illegible] stirred the pow[illegible] listeners and [illegible] by the [illegible] of the [illegible] tears to [illegible] upon one occa[illegible] he uttered [illegible] words "Our Father," of the Lord's Prayer.

A story is told of the great Irish orator O'Connell. An attack had been made upon him in the house of commons. When O'Connell arose to reply his lofty brow was black with thunder and his arm uplifted as if to strike. Then, checking himself, he said, "But the gentleman says he loves Ireland." Lowering his tone to the rippling murmur of a summer brook, he continued, "I have no words of bitterness or reproach for any man who loves Ireland." The pathos in the fragmentary utterance of the last word brought tears to the eyes of many veterans of the house.

Opaque Windows.

The building contractor let loose some of his most emphatic phrases when he found that the man who had been hired to daub whiting all over the windows had not half done the job.

"That man doesn't seem to understand what the windows in a half finished building are whitened for," he said. "We don't plaster them over with chalk to prevent the public from seeing the unfinished condition of the interior, but to keep the workmen from battering out the glass. Transparent glass looks just about as transparent as air to the man who is moving a wooden or iron beam in a hurry and he is likely to ram the end of it through an expensive window, but when the glass is coated with white it becomes visible and the workmen hand their material in through the door."—New York Times.

He Wouldn't Advertise

Breathes there a man, with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"My trade of late is getting bad,
I'll try another eight-inch ad."
If such there be, go mark him well;
For him no bank account shall swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome home the millionaire
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed,
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain,
Tread lightly friends; let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound,
Here let him live in calm repose,
Unsought except by men he owes
And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep;
Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well.
And when the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss,
And on the stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

Advertise and the world is with you!
Don't and you'll be alone.
For the world today will never pay
A Cent to the Great Unknown.

MONESSEN MILL TO CONTINUE THE ENTIRE SUMMER

As an evidence of the unprecedented business activity of the present summer, and especially in the steel and tinplate business, it is announced by the Monessen plant of the American Sheet and Tinplate company that there will be no shutdown this summer, either in whole or in part. Thus Monessen is assured one of the best seasons of its existence, for part of the plant has always heretofore been idle for a few weeks. Orders are so brisk that even a cessation for repairs is not to be thought of. With a payroll of $55,000 every two weeks and steady employment for over 1,600 men, the tin plate works is a splendid basis for the mercantile life of Monessen.

With the shipment during the last two weeks of products aggregating as it is accounted technically 200,000 base boxes, all previous records for production have been broken.

FRIGHT IN BATTLE.

How Grant Cured a Badly Scared Staff Officer.

One of General Grant's newly appointed staff officers had never been in any serious engagement. But almost the first day that he reported to Grant he was placed under a fire of the hottest and most severe kind. The screaming of the balls, the roaring of the cannon and the sharp crack and rattle of the musketry thoroughly demoralized him. He became absolutely sick and paralyzed with fear. He was so weak from nervous excitement that he lost physical control over himself.

General Grant came up at the very climax of his fright, and, noticing his pale face, his blue lips and chattering teeth, he said: "Captain, you are frightened. That is natural enough. You will get over it. Suppose," continued Grant, "I should come to you with a hat containing ninety-nine white beans and one black one and I should ask you to thrust your hand into the hat at a venture and pick out the black bean. Do you think your chance of getting that black bean would be very good? Well, your chance for being hit under this fire is no greater than your chance for drawing the black bean."

This officer at once took heart, and from then on he never showed the slightest sign of fear.—Life.

"He was born in Hattesburg, Hartz, Germany. He studied at the universities of Heidelberg, Zurich, Hanover, Berlin and Paris. In Germany he first entered the glass business.

"Coming to America he worked for years in various cities in Pennsylvania. His first invention was an opal glass for decorating purposes being particularly adaptable for church windows. He, however, did not get credit for his invention.

"His crowning achievement was the invention of a white plate glass. This glass was found to be an excellent sanitary substitute for old-style windows and the big hotels about the country immediately equipped their places with it.

"He determined to keep this formula to himself because he knew what had happened before. But in some way, some one obtained his figures and again he did not get credit for his invention."

Otto left Charleroi about three or four years ago, going to Ontario. While here he was employed by the Pittsburg Plate Glass company. He remained at Ontario for a time, and then went to Detroit, where he died disheartened and disappointed over his loss. He lived in Charleroi for years, and had many friends here.

On pay days the professional cripple, physical but never mental, makes Webster his headquarters. All this assortment of the-world-owes-them-a-living theory exponents have little love for Charleroi or some of the other nearby towns, when they are either put to work or made to suffer in some other way, and highly regard Webster, where the profession gets some respect.

Gladstone and Grillion's.

Mr. Gladstone's election to Grillion's club, which took place in 1840, was far from delighting him at the time. He declared it to be "a thing quite alien to my temperament, which requires more soothing and domestic appliances after the feverish and consuming excitements of party life, but the rules of society oblige me to submit." Lord Morley adds: "As it happened, so narrow is man's foreknowledge Grillion's down to the very end of his life nearly sixty years ahead, had no more faithful or congenial member."—London Chronicle.

BASEBALL GAME IS POSTPONED

Because it is impossible to play any decent kind of baseball with four players on one side and seven on the other, there was no baseball game at the ball park Friday evening between the Lutherans and the Episcopals. One team had four men and the other seven, so the game was declared off, and will have to be played at some later date. An exhibition game was played.

Miss Mary Chester and Miss Myford and Walter Stroud and Roland Greenawald are attending a Donora outing at Kennywood park today.

THE CHARLEROI MAIL

VOL. NO. 316. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA., SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, 1912 ONE CENT

TOWN WELL ADVERTISED

Charleroi is Convention City of Monongahela Valley

THREE BIG MEETINGS

Sunday School, Lodge and Temperance People Select the Magic City

When a small town of less than 10,000 inhabitants gets to the point where it ranks with its haughty sisters of 20,000 and 30,000 and 40,000 population in the critical eye of the convention selector--if you can call him that--it has become some "suds." Charleroi has done all that, and conventions to which the town has naturally fallen heir, has proven it.

Charleroi doesn't recover from one convention until it gets another, and fortunately they are not all of the same kind. They do not in the least run to monotony.

Two years ago at Philadelphia there was a meeting of a big lodge that in the State of Pennsylvania numbers 5,300 members. One delegate to this convention had been reading of Gov. Tener's nomination for governor and was delighted even to the point of enthusiasm. "Let's go to Charleroi," he called out when the matter of the 1912 convention city came up for official decision. The idea took like wildfire. Everybody voted in favor of Charleroi, and that's why this week the Magic City entertained the Sons of St. George in their seventeenth stated grand lodge meeting. The convention brought together some influential men, lawyers, physicians, editors, men of various professions, and on the other hand men of the trades. The most conspicuous figure at the three days' session was probably W. J. Trembath, of Wilkesbarre, a lawyer of State wide repute who now has the unique honor of being grand secretary and supreme secretary, combined, of the Sons of St. George. Then there were present W. F. Barlow, who came all the way from Boston, Mass., to attend the convention as supreme president of the organization, A. E. Symons, of Wilkesbarre, and a number of Philadelphia men. All were here to enjoy themselves and did.

During June for two days the Washington County Sunday School Association was entertained. It was the biggest and the best convention the county association ever had, and attracted unusual attention throughout the State. The next event was a session of African Methodists; the disease was prevalent--their Sunday School and Allen Endeavor conventions were the best they ever had.

With the convention over this week the Magic City will only have time to clean up a bit, wash its face so to speak, until the Women's Christian Temperance Union comes. Their session held by the Washington County organization will last for two days, August 27 and 28. It may not be the last scheduled for this year--it is to be hoped it isn't if such nice people continue coming as have been here at past conventions, but it is the final one so far as is known.

Carl Otto, Formerly of Charleroi, Succumbs at Detroit

PRODUCED WHITE GLASS

In obscurity and without having gained the recognition due him by his craft, Carl Otto, 66 years old, a German inventor died a few days ago in Detroit, Mich. Though having perfected some of the finest kinds of glass ware used today his name is familiar to but few. The Detroit News says of him:

"After attending famous schools and universities in the old world, Mr. Otto devoted his life to experiments in glass, and through his efforts formulas for some of the most recent styles of glass decoration were evolved. Samples of his work adorn some of the churches and cathedrals of the old world, while in this country several of the magnificant hotels in the larger cities are using glassware that was invented by him.

BIG CARS TO DONORA

Depot and "Y" to be Constructed by Pittsburg Railways

GROUND IS ACQUIRED

A big depot and a "Y" where large palace cars can turn are included in the plans for future development in Donora by the Pittsburg Railways company. An ordinance has been secured by the company in Donora giving them the right to make the desired improvements This ordinance will become a law in a few days.

It is the intention of the Pittsburg Railways company in extending and amplifying their Donora service to build the proposed depot on McKean avenue next to Darsie's hardware store, and to use it for both passenger and freight purposes. Ground has been acquired by the company. The "Y" will enable the cars to be run in the depot and backed out, giving them head for Pittsburg.

At the present time Donora passengers from Pittsburg or from up river points have to transfer to little cars at Black Diamond. It is understood when the new system is put into effect through cars will be run to Donora the same as through cars are now run to Charleroi.

FIRE COMPANIES OF TWO TOWNS TO ENTERTAIN ON LABOR DAY

Brownsville and Charleroi Firemen to Hold Celebration on Local Field--First Joint Meeting at Brownsville Last Year.

COMMITTEES MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR EVENT

Committees of the Charleroi Volenteer Fire department are working in preparation for two big events. One will be a local celebration on Labor Day, September 2, when the Brownsville Fire Company will be here to participate in various firemen contests against the Charleroi company. The other event will be at Uniontown during Old Home week, when firemen contests will be held. Volunteer fire departments all along the Monongahela valley have been invited to participate in the Uniontown event. Charleroi has accepted on one condition, that no professional racers take part in the races. One thousand dollars will be offered in prizes.

The Labor Day event here will be in the nature of a return engagement for the Brownsville firemen. Last fall the Charleroi firemen went to Brownsville to meet the Brownsville department in various contests, and to help them in a benefit. Part of the agreement was that the Brownsville department would come here to be entertained at a later date by Charleroi, and Labor Day will be the time.

All the events will be held at the baseball ground. A baseball game will be played. R. Dale Jolliffe has been selected captain of the Charleroi team. The rest of the program will consist of hose races, a hub and hub race, a service hose race and a hook and ladder race. Logan Wingett will be the captain of the running team. Practice will be started next Tuesday. when every runner who will be able to take part in the meet is requested to be present. In the evening the Brownsville firemen will be entertained at a supper by the Charleroi company. The proceeds of the affair will be to defray the necessary expenses. If there is anything left, it will go to the department.

Village Has Constable But He Lives in Pricedale Several Miles Away

Boasting of a population of 1,200, not counting dogs or pigs, four saloons and a few gamblers, and with no more police protection than New York is rumored to have, Webster claims itself to be in a unique and uneviable position. The nearest township constable lives at Pricedale. back of Belle Vernon. He has supervision over Webster law enforcement but his system of patroling the village necessarily has to consist of a brief visit only every once in a while. Inasmuch as offenders are pretty well versed as to when he will make his visit, Webster is, in a position to be pitied.

If by any unusual dispensation of Fate, an arrest is made the following is somewhat the order of conversation:

Officer-"I beg pardon, sir, but I'll have to arrest you."

MOURNED AS DEAD; WOMAN RETURNS

China Missionary Surprised to Learn She Was Supposed Victim of Titanic

Miss Maud Powell, of West Alexander, mourned as lost in the sinking of the Titanic, and for whom funeral services were held in a church weeks ago, arrived home this week, and was amazed to learn that she was supposed to have drowned when the mighty vessel went down near the Newfoundland Banks.

Miss Powell, who is a missionary of the Presbyterian church in China, had intended sailing on the Titanic, but at the last minute took passage on the North German Lloyd Line, tarrying in London to see the sights. Miss Powell had been in China as a medical missionary for the last six years, and was starting home on a furlough. She made her return by way of Great Britain, and wrote her friends in West Alexander that she would sail on the Titanic on its maiden voyage.

Her friends and relatives heard nothing further and when the Titanic went down and no trace of her could be secured among the survivors, it was taken for granted that she had drowned and her funeral services were held.

Miss Powell, after deciding that she would come by another line wrote home but the letters never arrived. Miss Powell credits her escape from the Titanic disaster to her childhood

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED BY CORONER'S JURY

Blame is Placed on Railroad Wreck for the B. and O.

CONDUCTOR MENTIONED

Investigating the cause of the header between a freight and passenger train a mile west of Claysville Monday which resulted in the death of [illegible] of Washington and Archie Gibson of Wheeling, the coroner's jury Friday placed the blame on the negligence of the freight crew. No recommendations were made by the jury. Coroner James T. Heffran conducted the inquest.

Conductor John McElwee and the Engineers Harry Kirkland and Henry Wonn were particularly mentioned as those to be blamed. With but one exception the crew on the freight testified that they had forgotten about the passenger train. The flagman was the only man on the freight who had thought of the passenger, but his place was on the rear end of the train and he talked with no one about it.

PARTY IN EVIDENCE

Organization of "Washingtons" Effected in This County

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN

That the "Washington" party is destined to be a permanent political organization in this section of the state was made evident Friday when by affidavits filed in the court of common pleas of Washington county the name was pre-empted for the elections for both the county and the borough of Washington. The name was pre-empted for the year 1913, it having been secured all over the state for the present year by action taken before the Chicago convention.

On the affidavit for the use of the name in the borough of Washington appeared the names of James P. Brownlee, B. F. Mevay, Jr., James W. McKennan, A. R. Witherspoon, J. B. Sherrard, Owen C. Underwood and C. L. V. Acheson. On the affidavit for the use of the name in the county are the names of John H. Moffitt, J. V. Clark, Owen C. Underwood, J. B. Sherrard, T. B. H. Brownlee, R. H. Meloy and C. L. V. Acheson.

Similar action was taken in Allegheny county two days ago and it is understood the same plan will be followed all over the state.

RAZING BRIDGE

Belle Vernon Structure Being Dismantled by Contractors

TAKING UP FLOORING

Present Wooden Planks to be Replaced by Cresote Blocks—Two Ferries Now

Workmen are engaged in tearing up the flooring and removing the woodwork on the approaches of the Belle Vernon bridge preparatory to beginning actual work of repairing the old structure. Within a short time they will have affairs in shape so that concrete workers can commence work on the new concrete approaches to be built.

According to the contract signed by the Capital Construction company of Columbus, Ohio, the bridge is to be repaired ready for use by November. It is not thought, however, that it will be finished until about the first of the year.

The present wooden flooring on the bridge proper will be replaced by cresote blocks, which will make a particularly strong and lasting floor. Floors of the approaches will be of brick. The approach on the Belle Vernon side of the bridge will be about 150 feet long and the one on the Speers side about 125 feet. These approaches will be built by separate contract.

Monday two ferries will be in operation between Belle Vernon and Speers, unless there are some unlooked for developments. Van L. Speers has had a ferry running for sometime. Leslie Woodward started a ferry, but was temporarily stopped through injunction proceedings started by Speers. The preliminary injunction was dissolved Friday and Woodward will again get his ferry going Monday.

DONORA AUDITORS FILE REPORT OF SCHOOL DISTRICT

The borough of Donora was the first of the third class school districts of Washington county to file its auditors' statement, asking that compensation be fixed for the auditors, as is required by the new school code. The total receipts of the district were $62,094.66, and the total expenses, $60,861.55, leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer of $1,233.11.

THE AMENDMENTS

Recently the Mail commented on the first of the proposed constitutional amendments for which joint resolutions were passed by the last legislature. The amendments cannot be voted upon by the people until they are passed by another legislature, but the law provides that they must be advertised for the enlightenment of the public, and the text of the proposed changes is now appearing in the various newspapers in order that the voters may read and study them. There are five of the proposed amendments, the first of which, as the Mail stated provides for the bonding of the state for fifty million dollars to improve the 8,000 miles of highways taken over by the state in accordance with Governor Tener's comprehensive plan of road improvement. The other proposed amendments, as summarized by the Philadelphia Press, are as follows:

The second amendment breaks into the section prohibiting special legislation on certain subjects so far as to permit special legislation regulating labor; or as the amendment specifies, "the legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or any civil division thereof," or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work under such authority. This is quite comprehensive and pretty clearly its own meaning.

The third amendment is intended as an escape from the muddle into which the tenure of some of the Common Pleas Judges of the state was thrown by the amendments adopted three years ago. It provides that such Judges holding office at the present time whose terms expire in odd-numbered years shall continue to hold their office for another year. By the adoption of this amendment the tenure will be adjusted to meet the requirment that all district Judges shall be elected in the odd-numbered years. It was clearly an oversight that this was not provided for in the original amendment on the subject.

The fourth amendment relates to taxation. It incorporates in the section requiring that "all taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects," a provision that the subjects of taxation may be classified for the purpose of laying graded or progressive taxes. This proposed amendment is understood to have been inspired by the investigation of taxation and the hunt for new subjects from which revenue can be had, by the Legislative Commission which has now been in existence several years, and has made no definite report.

The fifth amendment is intended to enable counties or municipalities to increase their indebtedness for self-supporting public works. It will be worthy of discussion in detail should it finally come up for popular vote. It does not apply to Philadelphia, as it extends to other counties and municipalities much the same privilege this city acquired by the constitutional amendment adopted last November.

All of these amendments are important, particularly the first, which provides for road improvements, and the voters should make sure how they want to pass upon them when make their selections for the next legislature at the coming fall election.

GAINING GROUND

Slowly but surely the curb market is gaining ground in Charleroi. As the season advances, more produce is coming in, and a wider variety is offered for sale. Some products as a matter of course have a greater supply than there is a demand for at times, while of others there is not enough to supply the demand. The season is favorable for some while unfavorable for others, which is a large factor in the matter of supply and demand.

What is necessary now is for the people to create the market, and the farmers will in time meet the demand. This cannot be done in a single season, but if the people of Charleroi lend the proper encouragement all through this season, the opportunities will be infinitely greater another year. In buying direct from the producer intermediate profits are cut off, and both buyer and seller profit more by the transaction. The curb market is gaining ground right along, and all should lend their aid in making it permanent. Buying from the producer direct is one of the means of reducing the high cost of living.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"We are glad we came to Charleroi," said A. E. Symons, grand treasurer of the Sons of St. George, which met in convention here this week. "I wish you would emphasize that. We have been treated royally and while we haven't had very much time to go around, yet we have managed to get a pretty good idea of the town that Gov. Tener came from.

"One thing that struck us forcibly was your clean streets. Why it seems to me that in all the conventions we have attended we have never been to a place where the streets are kept in such fine shape.

"In the matter of entertainment Charleroi cannot be beaten. The accomodations we found here at the hotels were surprising, and are better than you would find in the average city of 20,000 or 30,000. That's a fact.

"When we left Pittsburg on our way up the Monongahela valley some of us eastern delegates had a feeling akin to gloom. We had little idea of what Charleroi was, practically all of our knowledge of the town being that Gov. Tener lived here. Consequently we expected to find a smoky dirty place [illegible] systematically and publishing the fact to the world. As we came up the river, some remarked as we passed certain gloomy towns that Charleroi would look something like that.

"Imagine our surprise when we stepped off our train in front of the beautiful railroad station, and gazed up the broad, clean streets. After getting to our hotels we lost little time in seeing some of the "Magic City of the Monongahela Valley" and I tell you we are pleased."

Ever since the establishment of the Charleroi curb market the committee, composed of President J. B. Schafer of the Business Men's Association, and Dr. C. C. Wright, Chas. O. Frye and others have been trying to get J. G. S. Chalfant, who lives near Coal Center, to bring his produce here. Mr. Chalfant, who uses advanced and scientific methods in raising fruit and produce, particularly the former, was somwhat loth to come here, saying that he had a better market at Roscoe and other up-river points.

Finally, after repeated solicitations Mr. Chalfant drove to town Tuesday with a wagon load of fruit--plums and apples, chiefly--which were of unusually fine quality. The moment he appeared the throng of women who were at the market surrounded his wagon, and Mr. Chalfant was not only amazed at the eagerness of the purchasers, but was overwhelmed by the rush. As he could not hand out his product fast enough, the women hepled themselves to baskets and boxes of fruit and laid the money down for the same.

During the rush Councilman W. H. Calvert, J. B. Schafer and A. F. McGowan "kidded" Mr. Chalfant over the superiority of the up-river market.

"Better go to Roscoe with your stuff," they said. "There you'll have plenty of time to hand it out, peddling from door to door," and similar chaff was "handed out" to Mr. Chalfant, who in 25 or 30 minutes was completely cleaned out.

CALIFORNIA WOMAN ACCEPTS SETTLEMENT

Rather than have a retrial of the case Mrs. Mary A. Rager of California, has signified that she will accept $300 for alleged damages done to her property by the overflow of a water tank on the Normal school grounds. She was awarded a verdict by a jury for $800, but the court stated a new trial would be granted unless Mrs. Rager cared to accept $300 for the damages claimed. The latter has accepted the court's proposition.

The Earth and Man Compared.

If it were possible for a man to construct a globe 800 feet in height—much less than twice the height of the Washington monument—and to place upon any portion of its surface an atom one four thousand three hundred and eightieth of an inch in diameter and one one hundred and twentieth of an inch in height, it would correctly denote the proportions man bears to the gigantic globe upon which he stands.

Prehistoric Anecdote.

Eve had a new gown made of the usual fig leaves.

"Why don't you make a costume of those beautiful violets?" inquired Adam.

"Poor wash goods," replied Eve. "You know that violets are shrinking flowers."—Pittsburgh Post.

Bringing the Paradox Home.

"Pa, what's a paradox?"

"It is when the impossible happens."

"Then we had a paradox here this evening. Ma said you couldn't possibly be expected home before midnight, because you had an excuse for stayin' downtown."—Chicago Record-Herald

AN HOUR'S WALK.

Traveling 85,253 Miles.

Have you ever thought of the distance [illegible] when you are out [illegible] Possibly you [illegible] within the hour, but [illegible] The earth [illegible] This is the radius of the earth's orbit—half the diameter of the circle, as we call it. The whole diameter is therefore [illegible] miles, and the circumference, being the diameter multiplied by 3.1416, is about 578,000,000.

This amazing distance the earth travels in its yearly journey, and dividing it by 365 we find the daily speed about 1,580,000. Then we get the distance you rode around the sun during your hour's walk, divide again by twenty-four, and the result is about 66,000 miles. But this is not the end of your hour's trip. The sun, with its entire brood of planets, is moving in space at the rate of 100,000,000 miles in a year. That is at the rate of a little more than 488,000 miles a day, or 18,250 miles an hour.

So, adding your three miles of leg travel to the hour's axial movement of the earth, this to the earth's orbital journey and that again to the earth's excursion with the sun, and you find you have traveled in the hour 85,253 miles.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

"Broncho Billy's Pal," another of the great films of this series in which G. M. Anderson, in his famous character creation of "Broncho Billy," is known throughout three hemispheres, was a most delightful presentation at the Palace Theatre this week. Broncho Billy's pal has a sweetheart, who demands of him to capture a desperado who has shot and wounded her father, the sheriff. The young man confesses to Broncho Billy that he is a coward and afraid to run the bad man down, but Billy takes the badge and revolver and brings the desperado in and lodges him in jail, leaving his pal to enjoy the good graces of his sweetheart for his supposed bravery. Other strong photoplays were "The Queens Ring," a historic incident in the reign of "Good Queen Bess," "The Adventure of a Retired Army Colonel," a thrilling detective story, "For the Sake of the Pappoose," "The Family Tyrant," and others. In addition the Pathe Weekly showed the [illegible] parade at the grand lodge session at Portland, Oregon, as well as many other interesting features.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI

Lovers of the Shakesperean drama enjoyed a rare treat at the Coyle Theatre Thursday in Thanhauser's two-part production of the "The Merchant of Venice." Presented by a most capable cast the settings of the play were historically perfect. The reproduction of the scenes in Venice far surpassed any staging that has even been attempted in the legitimate presentation of this great play, while the large number of people in action, historically correct in costume, added most effectually to the scenes. Opening with comedy, with Shylock's dark mental workings in the center, together with the tragic ending, those familiar with the plot and lines had a more correct version of the play than even the greatest tragedian that ever essayed the role could portray. The whole version was a most delightful and scholorly interpretation. Other strong feature films were shown during the week, one of which was "The Little Moonshiner," a picture that showed the trials and vicissitudes of those who live far back in the mountains and try to eak out an existance by distilling whiskey, contrary to the Federal regulations.

THE STAR—CHARLEROOI.

Sensational features, in which there were genuine thrills for all, predominated at the Star Theatre this week. The first big thriller was a two reel film, "Written in Blood," which as the title suggests, was a most graphic drama of manly action and feminine heroism. "Attacked by a Lion," which is said to be the most realistic film ever shown was a thriller that made spectators' hair stand on end. "Young Wild West on the Border" was another film of intense human action in the open, while the great masterpiece of Washington Irving, "Rip Van Winkle," made famous by Joseph Jefferson was Friday's schedule. This great drama is also in two reels, and the motion picture version greatly amplifies the possibilities of settings and scenic effects. The week closes today with "Ou[illegible]da's" most thrilling and sensational drama, "Under Two Flags," whose [illegible]ory has for years thrilled the whole [illegible]ing public of both continents.

THE HIPPODROME—PITTSBURG.

Another triumphant week at the Pittsburg Hippodrome is closing, and the reputation of this popular big out-of-doors show stands higher today than ever. Robinson's 5 Performing Elephants scored such a knockout hit with the pleasure loving public of PPittsburg and vicinity that Manager John P Harris, in answer to many requests, made arrangements by which their engagement in Pittsburg was extended for one week longer, and they formed an added attraction to a bill peculiarly rich in enjoyable features.

The important announcement is now made that Albers Polar Bears have been secured for the Hippodrome and will positively appear. All the [illegible] all the latest novelties; all the prettiest and most artistic acts; all the biggest comedy hits are discovered and brought straightway to Pittsburg and included in the Hippodrome bills from week to week. The special Saturday matinees are proving the most enjoyable and popular innovation that has yet been introduced by the Hippodrome management. Whenever it is possible, during the remainder of the season, when baseball games do not interfere, the Hippodrome matinees will continue in addition to the regular nightly shows. One of the many attractive features connected with the Hippodrome is that the performances are not interferred with by the weather.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG

Miss Thais Magrane, who, during the summer, has been leading woman of the Davis Players, at the Grand Opera House, will make her farewell bow in that capacity, next week, to local playgoers, in a revival of Clyde Fitch's famous romance of international courtship and marriage, "Her Great Match," which was written especially for Maxine Elliott by the prolific Fitch.

Briefly, the plot of the play concerns the courtship of Jo Sheldon, who is traveling with her scheming mother for the obvious purpose of finding a royal suitor, by the Crown Prince Adolph of Eastphalia. The Prince's father, upon learning of his son's infatuation, threatens to disinherit him, unless he gives up the idea of marriage with a woman so beneath him in birth. But the Prince refuses; and his family attempts to arrange a morgantic marriage which naturally ends in a fiasco. Whereupon the Prince renounces his right to the throne, and marries the lady of his choice.

Supporting Miss Magrane as Jo Sheldon, at the Grand, next week, will be Corlis Giles leading man of the Davis Players, as the Prince, Katherine Stanton, Hal De Forest, Frank Wright and other stock favorites. Stage Director Esmelton is arranging an elaborate scenic outfit for the four acts of the piece, all of which are laid in England.

FINDING A PAWN TICKET.

Sometimes It May Be Just Walking Into a Trap.

"[illegible] an innocent looking individual. I espied an important looking piece of paper on the sidewalk and, [illegible] found it to be a pawn ticket for a diamond scarfpin which some careless person had evidently dropped.

"According to the ticket the pin had been pledged several weeks before for $15. 'How am I to find the owner?' thought I. 'Shall I take it to the pawnbroker? Perhaps if I do the owner will never see it anyway. The pin must surely be a good one and doubtless worth three times the amount for which it was pledged. Why not appropriate it to my own use?'

"The name on the ticket was Brown, and my conscience was relieved when I found several hundred of that name in the directory. I soon made up my mind and started for the broker's office. I asked to see the pin before redeeming it, stating that I had bought the ticket and upon the payment of 25 cents was allowed to examine it.

"It looked all right to me, although I am not a qualified judge of diamonds, so I paid the principal of $15 and the interest of $1.20 and the pin became mine.

"The next day I showed it to an expert, who declared it to be worth far less than the amount I had paid for it.

"'It is a trick of some people,' he said, 'to defraud unwary persons like yourself. The scheme consists of pawning tickets for spurious pieces of jewelry for amounts many times in excess of their value and dropping them on the sidewalk in different parts of town, where unsuspecting persons might find them and redeem them, as you did, thus yielding a handsome profit to the perpetrators.'"—Philadelphia Record.

[illegible] the power [illegible] speakers and [illegible] by the [illegible] of the [illegible] tears to [illegible] upon one occasion [illegible] which he uttered [illegible] "Our Father" of the Lord's Prayer.

A story is told of the great Irish orator O'Connell. An attack had been made upon him in the house of commons. When O'Connell arose to reply his lofty brow was black with thunder and his arm uplifted as if to strike. Then checking himself, he said, 'But the gentleman says he loves Ireland.' Lowering his tone to the rippling murmur of a summer brook, he continued, "I have no words of bitterness or reproach for any man who loves Ireland." The pathos in the fragmentary utterance of the last word brought tears to the eyes of many veterans of the house.

Opaque Windows.

The building contractor let loose some of his most emphatic phrases when he found that the man who had been hired to daub whiting all over the windows had not half done the job.

"That man doesn't seem to understand what the windows in a half finished building are whitened for," he said. "We don't plaster them over with chalk to prevent the public from seeing the unfinished condition of the interior, but to keep the workmen from battering out the glass. Transparent [illegible] as air to the man who is moving a wooden or iron beam in a hurry and he is likely to ram the end of it through an expensive window, but when the glass is coated with white it becomes visible and the workmen hand their material in through the door."—New York Sun.

He Wouldn't Advertise

Breathes there a man, with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"My trade of late is getting bad,
I'll try another eight-inch ad."
If such there be, go mark him well;
For him no bank account shall swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome home the millionaire
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed.
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain,
Tread lightly friends: let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound,
Here let him live in calm repose,
Unsought except by men he owes
And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep;
Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well.
And when the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss,
And on the stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

Advertise and the world is with you!
Don't and you'll be alone.
For the world today will never pay
A Cent to the Great Unknown.

MONESSEN MILL TO CONTINUE THE ENTIRE SUMMER

As an evidence of the unprecedented business activity of the present summer, and especially in the steel and tinplate business, it is announced by the Monessen plant of the American Sheet and Tinplate company that there will be no shutdown this summer, either in whole or in part. Thus Monessen is assured one of the best seasons of its existence, for part of the plant has always heretofore been idle for a few weeks. Orders are so brisk that even a cessation for repairs is not to be thought of. With a payroll of $55,000 every two weeks and steady employment for over 1,600 men, the tin plate works is a splendid basis for the mercantile life of Monessen.

With the shipment during the last two weeks of products aggregating as it is accounted technically 200,000 base boxes, all previous records for production have been broken.

FRIGHT IN CATTLE.

How Grant Cured a Badly Scared Staff Officer.

One of General Grant's newly appointed staff officers had never been in any serious engagement. But almost the first day that he reported to Grant he was placed under a fire of the hottest and most severe kind. The screaming of the balls, the roaring of the cannon and the sharp crack and rattle of the musketry thoroughly demoralized him. He became absolutely sick and paralyzed with fear. He was so weak from nervous excitement that he lost physical control over himself.

General Grant came up at the very climax of his fright, and, noticing his pale face, his blue lips and chattering teeth, he said: "Captain, you are frightened. That is natural enough. You will get over it. Suppose," continued Grant, "I should come to you with a hat containing ninety-nine white beans and one black one and I should ask you to thrust your hand into the hat at a venture and pick out the black bean. Do you think your chance of getting that black bean would be very good? Well, your chance for being hit under this fire is no greater than your chance for drawing the black bean."

This officer at once took heart, and from then on he never showed the slightest sign of fear.—Life.

"He was born in Hattesburg, Hartz, Germany. He studied at the universities of Heidelberg, Zurich, Hanover, Berlin and Paris. In Germany he first entered the glass business.

"Coming to America he worked for years in various cities in Pennsylvania. His first invention was an opal glass for decorating purposes being particularly adaptable for church windows. He, however, did not get credit for his invention.

"His crowning achievement was the invention of a white plate glass. This glass was found to be an excellent sanitary substitute for old-style windows and the big hotels about the country immediately equipped their places with it.

"He determined to keep this formula to himself because he knew what had happened before. But in some way, some one obtained his figures and again he did not get credit for his invention."

Otto left Charleroi about three or four years ago, going to Ontario, While here he was employed by the Pittsburg Plate Glass company. He remained at Ontario for a time, and then went to Detroit, where he died disheartened and disappointed over his loss. He lived in Charleroi for years, and had many friends here.

and but two or three to Monessen."

And off they stride. Webster is claimed to be a mecca for tramps, who come in companies, regiments, battalions and plain droves. On pay days the professional cripple, physical but never mental, makes Webster his headquarters. All this assortment of the-world-owes-them-a-living theory exponents have little love for Charleroi or some of the other nearby towns, when they are either put to work or made to suffer in some other way, and highly regard Webster, where the profession gets some respect.

Gladstone and Grillion's.

Mr. Gladstone's election to Grillion's club, which took place in 1840, was far from delighting him at the time. He declared it to be "a thing quite alien to my temperament, which requires more soothing and [illegible] appliances after the feverish and consuming excitements of party life, but the rules of society oblige me to submit." Lord Morley adds: "As it happened; so narrow is man's foreknowledge Grillion's down to the very end of his life nearly sixty years ahead, had no more faithful or congenial member."—London Chronicle.

BASEBALL GAME IS POSTPONED

Because it is impossible to play any decent kind of baseball with four players on one side and seven on the other, there was no baseball game at the ball park Friday evening between the Lutherans and the Episcopals. One team had four men and the other seven, so the game was declared off, and will have to be played at some later date. An exhibition game was played.

Miss Mary Chester and Miss Myford and Walter Stroud and Roland Greenawald are attending a Donora outing at Kennywood park today.
